Final Mid-Week Message

Well, all good things must come to an end. Our new protocols are no exception. I am grateful for having to try new technologies and approaches to keep our communities connected and spiritually fed during these times. There have been many lessons learned and presented during these times. The most profound one I relearned was, where there is a will, the Spirit will show the way. That provided myself and those I shared it with a lot of hope.

The greatest observation I watched was the Holy Spirit. It was the one who worked the most and hardest in the church in the past three months. I watched the Spirit inspire pastors, councils and lay people. This was mostly in new and creative ways. There is much to be grateful and thankful for as we emerge back into the world. I am very grateful and thankful for the councils we have in Green Bay and Thalberg. They are great examples of leadership inspired and moved by the Holy Spirit. We truly are blessed. Lana, Susan, Tamara, Darrin and Tamara have also been great blessings to me and my ministry to you. A very heartfelt thank you to all of you.

As we continue to move forward remain hopeful and keep the faith. They are the two things that saw us through the dark days of Covid 19.

Our next challenge is dealing with fear and not letting it overcome us at this time. This is a time of discernment. To weed out the misinformation from the truth. God gave us a brain and common sense to be used along with our faith in order to inform our decisions. Use them both with great caution. Humans should come with warning labels. Please pray for sun on Sunday. How ironic and appropriate? God Bless and we will see you on Sunday, Pastor D
